In this world we seem to be immersed in a world of troubles. Things may seem insurmountable. We have to prove to God that despite our trials we love Him the most. There are all kinds of dualities that seem to test our love for God. Problems come so we will draw closer to God. Many come like an avalanche. Turn to God even more. Hold onto the hand of the Guru more than ever before.

Don't become paralyzed. Keep awake your calmness and intuitive perception. Don't forget all the good. This is only temporary.

We need greater challenges to bring out the greatness in us. Stay in the present moment. Live supremely well now. We can do everything we can now. You can connect with God now. Things have always turned out right.

Master had tremendous difficulties. He never gave up. He believed the words of his Guru. Because of his faith, because he never gave up, because he connected with his Guru – everything worked out for Master. We need to look at how our Guru faced his challenges.

Nothing comes into our lives by coincidence. Perhaps challenges are given to see if we have faith in God.

Know that Guruji is always guiding your life. He allows it to happen.

Simplify and restructure your life and thinking. It is what you are becoming now that will shape your future. Take responsibility for the present moment.

Trust yourself more – go into your heart. Techniques are very important, but we need to go into the heart and share with God everything. Give more from the heart and you won't be able to hurt others.

We have to remain steadfast in our pursuit of God.
