

Brother Satyananda – “Magnetism” – Glendale Temple, August 16, 2009

Anything you want to do—You CAN DO IT!

Dreams and goals can change, but the encouragement doesn't and this turns into a universal/supreme encouragement to find God.

On the subject of finding someone: if you don't want to play the dating game you need to explore new environments where you feel safe—places where you can get to know people

Personal enthusiasm is a magnet for attracting people to you

Find what you like to do

Don't play games

Be authentic and you will find people who like you

On the difference between flirting and being charming: charming is being warm and caring while flirting reflects insecurity and you won't attract anyone sincere this way.

Don't go by how people dress; go by how they act.

A magnetism of live has attracted souls through lifetimes.

A close friendship is not possible with someone you haven't known in a previous lifetime.

We work to perfect love from one incarnation to the next—this helps perfect our love for God.

Practice a neutral attitude toward all life changes.

The world doesn't take us seriously so we don't need to take us seriously.

Do not take the tragedies of life too seriously.

Serve and help without feeling solely responsible. Focus on the “we” not the “I”
